FAMOUS.

S. GOLDSTEIN & CO.

112 E. DOUGLAS AVE.

Colonel Percy Verger is one of the most popular criminal lawyers in Austin. He has an immense criminal practice and usually succeeds, with slight assistance from the jury, in acquitting his clients, no matter how atrocious their crime or overwhelming the evidence of their guilt. Last Sunday Colonel Verger's little boy, Tommy, was asked by his Sunday school teacher: "Tommy, the man who is good in this world goes to heaven; now what becomes of the bad men who disobey the laws of God?" "Papa clears them," was the response.—Texas Sifters.

Enjoyment.

"Hey, Lizzie, come on, I'm de la de la. Dere's bully swimmin' in de sewer."—Lafayette.

Trustworthy.

Fame has its own peculiar bitterness. "Isn't it pleasant to go back with laurels under your helmet?" asked some one of a celebrated artist, who replied, quizzically: "It would be, except that many of my townsmen think me a house painter. That is a worthy trade, but still it is not my trade." Yet such a sting is not the sharpest to be imagined.
A century ago there lived a famous almanac maker, named Partridge. One day, while traveling in the country, he stopped for dinner at an inn, and afterward called for his horse, in order to continue his journey.
"If you will take my advice, sir," said the hostler, "you will stay where you are, unless you want to be overtaken by a heavy rain."
"Nonsense," was the reply. "It doesn't look in the least like rain."
He proceeded on his way, and was thoroughly drenched by the shower in which he had refused to believe. Turning back, he was met by the hostler with a broad grin.
"Well, sir," said the man, "you see I was right, after all."
"Yes, you were right, and now you must tell me how you came to know about the rain."
"Well, sir," replied the man, "you see we have a book at our house called 'Partridge's Almanac,' and whenever that fellow promises us a fair day we know it will rain. Now this day is put down in the almanac as 'cloudy and rainy.' I looked at the prediction before I brought your horse out, and that was how I could put you on your guard."—Youth's Companion.

His Views.

The traveler stood looking at the glories of Yosemite for the first time. He had journeyed 3,000 miles to see the wonderful valley. Before him, in solemn grandeur, rose the Cathedral Rock, the Three Brothers and the Sentinel Dome. The Bridal Veil falls, dissolving in a feathery mist as the waters descended the tremendous precipice, lit up with varied tints the somber majesty of the scene, while El Capitan, mighty, overpowering, unapproachable, seemed to frown sternly over the lake. The traveler became conscious he was not alone. At his side, apparently lost in wonder, stood a stranger looking at the marvelous scene.
He addressed the stranger.
"Is not this stupendous?"
The stranger bowed his head, as if he felt the inability of words to describe his emotions.
"Do you think," pursued the traveler, "that this terrific gorge was caused by some titanic upheaval from below? Or is it the result of glacial action? What are your views, if any, as to?"
"My views," blandly interposed the stranger, opening a valise he carried in his hand, "are only $1.50 a dozen and cheap at twice the money. Permit me to show you a few samples."—Chicago Tribune.

Changed the Subject.

One of the most difficult things to do gracefully is to change the current of unpleasant conversation, but the small boy can do it if circumstances make it necessary.
"Thomas, will you please tell me why you pulled up the onions from my Danvers onion bed? How many times have I told you to keep away from the garden?" Thomas grew red in the face, and his grandfather went on to depict the evil fate that was sure to befall boys who went around destroying what their elders had planted.
Meanwhile, Thomas had pulled himself together, and as the narrative was concluded he said, with a smile, referring to an event of the previous week: "Pity our old rooster died, wasn't it, grandpa?"—Youth's Companion.

Not Synonymous.

Gentleman (on crowded street car)—What is the difference between manna and make?
Second Gentleman—Let me see it is—Man (hanging on to rear platform, interrupting)—It is that the street car is manufactured to seat thirty people, but it is made to carry fifty or more.—Life.

The Joys of Domestic Life.

Young Mother—James, dear, you mustn't go near the baby.
Young Father—Mayn't I just look at him?
Young Mother—No, dear, he's asleep. I'll let you take him when he wakes up in the night.—New York Press.

Succotash.

Shell or string the beans and cut them into small pieces; cut the green corn from the cob, using one-third more corn than beans. Boil the beans for twenty minutes, then drain and mix with the corn. Cover them both with boiling water, add sufficient salt; stew for thirty minutes, stirring frequently; then pour off the water and replace it with milk, adding butter, pepper and salt to taste; stew for ten minutes more and serve very hot.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Eric-a-Brac.
The person who is inclined to boast of his valuable possessions is likely to have the laugh turned upon him, on occasion. A wealthy man was once exhibiting proudly to some acquaintances a table which he had bought, and which, he said, was 300 years old.
"That is nothing," said one of the company. "I have in my possession a table which is more than 3,000 years old."
"Three thousand years old?" said his host.
"That is impossible. Where was it made?"
"Probably in India."
"In India? What kind of a table is it?"
"The multiplication table!"—Youth's Companion.
